GREATER PART IS FOR EXTENSION

$3,550,000 of $4,850,000, For Which
I. & C. Was Mortgaged to be Used For That Purpose.

DATE FOR START NOT STATED

Remainder of Amount is to Pay Off
Receiver's Debts—Company
Makes Progress.

That the Indianapolis and Cincinnati Traction Company plans to extend its line eastward very soon is evidenced by the announcement which comes from Indianapolis to the effect that $3,500,000 of the total of $4,850,000, which was recently borrowed of New York parties and a mortgage on the line given as security, will be used for road extension. The remaining amount of $1,300,000 will be used to pay off the receiver's debts. So far the date of beginning the extension and by what route it will go has never been announced.

The issue of $4,850,000 of bonds is divided into classes A, B and C. A bonds represent the first lien of $1,130,000 against the entire property of the company, and are exchanged for receiver's certificates. Classes B and C are to be used to extend the road eastward.

The company has just executed the mortgage to the Central Trust Company of New York, and E. Francis Hyde of New York, as trustees, as of the first day of July, 1910, to secure an issue of bonds to the amount of $4,850,000, the mortgage, and the bonds secured thereby being in accord with the requirements of the re-organization agreement between trustees representing stockholders and bondholders, and creditors holding receivership indebtedness, entered into May 5, 1910. The new bonds and mortgages are now in the hands of the German American Trust Company, trustee, of Indianapolis, for the purpose of exchanging the new bonds for the receiver's certificates, issued by the receiver of the old Indianapolis & Cincinnati Traction Company.

CONNERSVILLE NOT UNEASY

Workmen Put Water Pump in Condition to Prevent Disaster.

Connerville is not so uneasy since a representative of the McGowan pump concern of Cincinnati arrived yesterday to repair the big pump, which was disconnected by the city employees, who planned to move it to the new water works plant, but, who were stopped in their work by a temporary restraining order, granted by Judge Alonzo Blair, upon the plea of the owner of the Connerville Hydraulic Company, H. D. Johnston. The pump will be repaired and put back in working order so that the city will not be in danger in case of fire.

SELLS NEW SALEM GENERAL STORE

Dave Higgins Disposes of Stock to Samuel Rogers For Farm in Richland Township.

NEW OWNER TAKES CHARGE

The general store in New Salem, owned by Dave Higgins, has been traded to Samuel Rogers of Clarksburg for a farm of forty-seven acres in Richland township. The new owner took charge of the place of business this morning. The general store has changed hands a number of times. The store was originally started by W. H. Miller, who took John H. Morris in as a clerk, while yet a boy. Later Mr. Morris bought the store, sold it, and it changed ownership several times before it became the property of J. F. Fore, who sold it to Mr. Higgins.

Samuel Rogers has been in business before, leaving that for the farm. He recently traded a farm near Buena Vista for the Johnston farm. Mr. Higgins was formerly a farmer, which occupation he has again taken up.

TO CONFER WITH HENRY COUNTY

Shelbyville Attorneys Planned to Visit New Castle Today to Arrange District Change.

WOULD PUT RUSH ON HENRY

The Bar Association of Shelby county held a meeting Wednesday morning and selected a committee, of which Attorney M. O. Sullivan is chairman, and it will be the purpose of this committee to pay a visit to New Castle, Henry county, Thursday to confer with attorneys at that place in regard to the changing of some of the judicial districts of the State, says the Shelbyville Republican. At the present time a move is on foot among the Democratic attorneys of Shelby county to have the legislature divorce Shelby and Rush counties in judicial matters and that Shelby be made a separate circuit. Local attorneys wish Rush and Henry counties to compose a circuit and this is the purpose of their visit.

Shelby county is overwhelmingly Democratic, and if this is done, the chances are the county will never have a Republican judge until the judicial district is again changed and the county hooked on to a Republican county, such as is the case at the present time.

VISIT RUSHVILLE TO GET POINTERS

Committee From Shelbyville's City Administration Investigate
Municipal Ownership.

FIND CONDITIONS VERY GOOD

While Other Cities Are Combatting That Question, Rushville Has Had Little Trouble.

Members of the Shelbyville city administration have planned a number of visits to cities in this vicinity to get a few pointers on city water and lighting facilities. The move sounds like Shelbyville is planning to institute a municipal water, light and power plant. They will find it very satisfactory, both financially and otherwise, as Rushville has done. Rushville can speak with emphasis on the topic since she has had more experience on that one subject than most any other city in this section of the State.

Members of the city administration made their first visit here. Yesterday City Attorney Herbert Jones and Councilman George Schoeleh were here looking over the local plant and investigating present conditions. They were more than pleased with Rushville's plant and complimented it very highly. They learned that Rushville's plant is not only self-sustaining, but that it gives much better service to its patrons for the money than a private corporation would do. They found conditions such that they can not go back to Shelbyville and recommend anything other than a municipal plant, if they base their recommendations on what they learned at Rushville.

Rushville has every reason to be proud of her water, light and power plant, since it is probably the most up-to-date and modern plant in this section of the State. Cities all around here have had trouble with water and light problems and have been unable to combat them successfully. They experience the most difficulty in the summer time during the dry spells, when the water in most cities gets low, and everywhere in this district, cities are threatened with water famine.

Not so with Rushville. Even though the water in the reservoir has been very low at times here in the summer, it has never been dangerous, when other cities were in dire peril. Rushville's plant has been managed well and Rushville people should be duly thankful for the services which they have had in the past and which they may expect in the future.

The same committee which was here visited Connerville on the same day. There things were found in a chaotic state as the city is engaged in a controversy with the owner of a canal, where the supply of water has been obtained. The contract with the owner of the canal has expired and he wants four thousand dollars a year to renew the lease. The city refuses to pay the amount and will start a municipal plant.

Mayor Hawkins and Councilman Deitzer expect to visit Richmond within the next few days, and Councilmen Bramlett and Clark will go to Seymour and Columbus. Councilmen Meloy and Vanlue will visit New Castle. All these visits will be made for the same purpose as the one made yesterday by Messrs. Jones and Schoeleh in this city.

READY FOR THE SPELLING BEE

County Contest Will be Held Saturday in Court House Assembly Room.

FORTY-TWO PUPILS ENTERED

Winners Will Represent This County
at District Meeting in Con-nersville, February 18.

All is in readiness for the Rush county spelling bee, which will be held Saturday, in the assembly room of the court house. Prof. J. H. Scholl, Alfred Hall and A. M. Taylor, compose the committee which will have charge of the contest. The spelling bee will begin promptly at 10 o'clock.

There will be forty-two school children in the contest, three from each township and three from the school corporations of Rushville and Carthage. Great interest is being taken in the contest and the rivalry promises to be very warm. The three best spellers in this county will represent Rush county in the district bee to be held in Connerville, February 18.

The contestants and alternates are as follows:

Rushville City—Freda Hiner, 8A; Marion Sparks, 8B; Gladys Tittsworth, 7A. The alternates are Marie Mock, 8A; Lucile Robertson, 8A; Tannie Scott, 8A.

Ripley Township—Marie Pitts, Ada Campbell, Beatrice Hunt, Maude Phelps and Hallie Brooks.

Rushville Township—Lillian Bennett, Florence Rill and Ruth Bennett. The alternates are Sarah Mitholland, Mary Rill and Orpha Wagoner.

Center Township—Lonva Hall, Fern McBride and Mary Whitton. The alternates are Ruby Newhouse, May Hackleman and Lisa McDaniel.

Jackson Township—Leland McCarty, Goldie Rogers and Hazel Kiser. The alternates are Earl Trater and Crystal Barnes.

Noble Township—Ruth Simpson, Harley Austin and Marion Tittsworth. The alternates are Dewey Stewart and Russell Tittsworth.

Orange Township—Tom Alter, Carrie Brown and Ethel Herbert. The alternates are Ora Cameron, Elmer Owen and Ivy Comely.

Posey Township—Nellie Woods, Jessie Harris and Ruby Maey. The alternates are Mary Woods, Lena Beale and Nova Hendrix.

Washington Township—Orville Morgan, Lewisville; Elsie Scott, Washington township, and Luella Ellwell of Falmouth. The alternates are Hazel Abrams of Lewisville and Albert Scott of Mays.

Anderson Township—Emma Terhune, Norma Nordmyer and Clifford Richey. The alternates are Belinda Crane, Lula Ryse and Agnes Stewart.

Richland Township—Dwight Miller, Leland Harrison, Roy Willis. The alternates are Hazel Grigsby and Ruby Gwinup.

Walker Township—Edith Coffin, Glorine English and Leotis Hodge. The alternates are Arrene Hiner, Willie English and Nellie Clingman.

If Union township and the Carthage schools ever held a preliminary contest, the results were not given to County Superintendent C. M. George or if they held a contest the superintendent never gave the result to the newspapers.

FUNERAL WAS HELD TODAY

Patrick Carroll of Danville, Ill., is Buried at St. Paul.

The funeral services of Patrick Carroll, fifty-five years old, who died suddenly at his home in Danville, Ill., last week, were held at the home of his sister, Mrs. William Embry in St. Paul this morning at 10:30 o'clock. The deceased's mother died in St. Paul about ten days ago. He is survived by four brothers and two sisters. The body arrived in St. Paul yesterday and was buried in Ogden cemetery this morning.

TO PRACTICE LAW IN BLOOMINGTON

Elmer C. Williams of New Salem Admitted to Bar of Monroe County Circuit Court Yesterday.

NEW LAW FIRM ESTABLISHED

Williams and McCloskey is the name of a new law firm in Bloomington. Elmer C. Williams, son of Mr. and Mrs. John O. Williams of New Salem, was admitted to the bar of the Monroe county circuit court yesterday. Mr. Williams will practice temporarily in Bloomington with Robert W. McCloskey of LaGrange, Ind., a student in Indiana University law school.

Mr. Williams is well known here, having graduated from the local high school in the spring of 1906. He entered Indiana University the following fall and two years later took up the study of law. Mr. Williams will receive his degree of LL. D. this spring. Since entering Indiana University he has been actively engaged in University affairs, being president of the Boosters club, yell leader, 1910-11, business manager of the Junior book for 1910 and end-man in the College and Charity Minstrels. Both members of the new law firm belong to the Delta Tau Delta fraternity.

MINISTER KNOWN HERE, TO PREACH

The Rev. J. N. Jessop of Little Rock, Ark., to Fill Christian Church Pulpit Sunday.

ONCE AT LITTLE FLATROCK

The Rev. J. N. Jessop of Little Rock, Ark., will fill the pulpit at the Main Street Christian church next Sunday at both the morning and evening service. The announcement will no doubt come as a very pleasant surprise to many Rush county people, since the Rev. Mr. Jessop is well and favorably known here. For several years he was the pastor of the Little Flatrock Christian church where he made a very enviable record as a pastor.

The Main Street Christian church pulpit is vacant, caused by the resignation of the Rev. R. W. Abberley, who went to Cincinnati to take up evangelistic work. There is much speculation as to whom the church will employ as pastor, but it is not likely that they will take any action soon as they have had only one visiting pastor here so far.

RESIST THIRD DEGREE METHOD

Cordie Martin Charged With Robbing
New Palestine Bank is Match
For Indianapolis Police.

WOULD TURN STATE WITNESS

Asserted he Could "Turn up" Dozen Safe Robbery Jobs in State if
"Treated Right."

In Cordie Martin, age thirty, of Greenfield, charged with being a safe blower, police wits have found their match, says the Indianapolis News. Hours in the "sweat box," despite the confession of Martin's alleged "pal," have resulted only in the final announcement by Martin:

"Well, it's a fight to the finish—to tiek me."

So Martin donned a well-pressed top coat, little the worse for two nights in the cell house, and crossed the street to the county jail. His path from there leads to the criminal court, for Captain Holtz agrees with him about the fight and there will be no more "sweating."

In the hours that Martin was "sweated" after Vance Derry or Deery confessed the detectives allege that Martin was testing their attitude as much as they were testing Martin. Holtz says Martin was trying to make an advantageous bargain with them. He insisted that he could "turn up" a dozen safe robbery jobs in the State is "treated right."

But the detectives wouldn't make the proposition they assert Derry desired—that he be allowed to escape the penitentiary by turning State's evidence against others. Martin, they say, delicately bargained and defied traditions of "third degree" fame in leaving the little room as cool and collected as when he entered. He was neither worn nor nervous.

The law firm of Cook & Cook of Greenfield and Henry Spaan of Indianapolis, will defend the alleged safe blowers. Henry J. Martin, the father of the man who refuses to confess, was at central police station with a suit case full of clean, natty apparel for his son. Martin greeted the change with joy. He said it certainly was refreshing.

The father is a contractor. The Martin family has lived in Hancock county since 1867 and is well known. Mr. Martin says his son can easily account for his movements on the night the bank at New Palestine was robbed. He says his son has shown himself to be an electrical and mechanical genius and completed a three-year correspondence course in five months.

In regard to the former arrest of Martin with others in Greenfield for safe blowing, the father says the grand jury investigated and failed to indict. These arrests were made last February.

Mr. Martin explains the confession of Derry by saying that the young man is afflicted with epilepsy and is not "just right" in his mind. He says he has been known to talk freely and make ridiculous statements that carry no weight with people who know him.

A Chinatown Romance

In Which the Yellow Man, With His Mysterious Ways, Proves a Strong Foe in Battling for the Love of an American Girl

By Louis Henry.

As one leaves the Bowery and turns onto Pell street, many strange and new sights will meet his eyes. It is practically a new China; as near one could picture it after civilization had taken hold.

If the reader had happened on this same pilgrimage a few years previous stranger sights and things would have made him wonder whether he had not been dreaming or was not at the present time in that blissful place called "dreamland."

Then if he had passed on across Dover street and neared Mott his eyes would have met a large flashy sign, something like this: "AH CHUNG CHOP SUEY RESTAURANT UPSTAIRS. Of course there would have been several Chinese characters, that meant this or that, nobody outside of the Chinaman could ever tell. Then again if he had gone up the brilliantly lighted stairway he would have found himself in a large and magnificently decorated dining hall. Hand carved Chinese wood arches painted in the highest colors imaginable, ebony tables and chairs inlaid in pearl and ivory would have met his already bewildered gaze. To the rear and off to one side could be seen a Chinese idol, around which the joss sticks were burning and odorizing the room until it was all but pleasant until one had become accustomed to it.

From a room to the rear he would have heard excited and guttural voices above the drum-drum of the Chinese phonograph. Stepping a little closer he would have heard the part of a rather heated conversation in which an American young man and a Celestial were quarreling over the love of a young waitress who was employed by the Ah Chung the owner of the restaurant.

"Sa-ni-kow-toy ossoty, no can wait you talker too muchee, ngee Kwei." If, at this point, if he had entered the room he would have beheld a beautiful young white girl of about eighteen years of age leaning against the wall. She was clad in the usual custom, worn by waitresses and as she stood there a deadly pallor was covering her face. Standing off to one side was the young white man who had been telling the girl of his love for her. The Chinaman had ordered him out of his place; he would not leave unless the girl went with him.

Then for awhile all was quite save for the click, click of the blocks as they hit the table around which several Chinese were playing at "fan-tan" or some other game of chance of which the Chinese are very fond.

Frank as we will know the young man by had asked the girl to leave the place with him; but, she replied, "Has not he," meaning Ah Chung "threatened me with my life if I do not consent to marry him, and really I sometimes do believe that I love him." At this his temper got the best of him and he made a move towards the girl as if to strike her, when up from the table jumped a venerable old Chinaman in the shape of Ah Chung to the defense of the girl he loved.

Ah Chung again ordered him to leave and to this Frank replied to him from across the table, "A-la-li-long, (meaning thief for stealing the heart of the girl he wished to call his sweetheart.) The Chinaman's temper at this was aroused to its utmost and he burst out, "You callo Chinaman plenty bad names; you callo a-la-li-long all the same thief-man; you muchee saucy, galaw, by-mby Chineeman no like this talker, he velly angry; he talkee Melican so—fashion ch-hoy; You one big piece foolo, you no chow-chow, chu-mung, me savy you; you bad man; you velly bad man; you to muchee bad, you try to steal plood Chinaman's goll, I tell'm you true, I'll flix um you, I killum you by 'mby." After this outburst he reached for a large cleaver which hung at the side of the table, but Frank saw this move and made a dart for the door. Ah Chung was in hot pursuit after his intended victim. As he started through the door his way was blocked by several new arrivals who were coming in to see what the loud talking was all about.

Among these was one Moy Tom, the proprietor of a joss house around the corner, who also had an eye on the beautiful young American girl, and had tried in more ways than one to gain his end, but had always met with defeat. He was bound that Ah Chung or no other Chinaman or anybody else would do what he had failed in. "Melican man, look see fly," cried Moy Tom. "He plenty flaid of Moy Tom; I'll flix a flank. Moy Tom no flaid of Ah Chung, he soon gettee him out the way." Then Moy Tom wheeled around and was gone.

That night Ah Chung's place was raided by the police. A fan-tan game was in full blast and thirty-one arrests were made. Ethel could be found nowhere; no one had seen her leave; Frank had kept a strict watch over the place and she had not left. Ah Chung was ordered to leave the city. That night again Frank watched, but as Ah Chung left, there was no Ethel leaving with him. A search was started by several of the Order of the Tongs, deadly enemies of Ah Chung and Moy Tom, but nothing was revealed at the end. Had he or had they killed her? That was to be known later or maybe never, as the Chinaman's ways are as mysterious as he is himself.

Weeks passed. Moy Tom was called on by the Tongs for information as to the whereabouts of Ethel, but he would say nothing and pretended to know nothing. Next morning Moy Tom's headless body was found in his place of business. No one knew why or by whom he had been killed, and no one seemed inquisitive. Then a search was made of the supposed joss house and in a pitiful condition in a low, filthy bunk, was found the unconscious form of Ethel alongside that of Ah Chung. Moy Tom had befriended his rival at the cost of his own life rather than give in to his enemies, the Tongs.

Ah Chung was arrested and again ordered to leave the city when the federal authorities stepped in and deemed it best that he be deported back to China as an undesirable citizen.

Ethel, during those few weeks imprisonment in the joss house, obtained such a desire for the pipe that her will power was not strong enough to throw it off. She remained in seclusion for days, nobody saw her. Frank had proved himself a man in her time of need, but she heeded him not, and would not leave with him and forget the past.

Along in the spring a letter came from China and the last that was ever heard of Ethel she was speeding across the great Pacific ocean to the land of the rising sun to meet an old gray haired Chinaman, who had ruined her young life through knowledge of her love for him. Maybe it was true love after all and if it was, it found its way.

PITIFUL ENDING OF A SUMMER ROMANCE

Girl Comes to Wed Man Whose Body Two Women Claim.

Hammond, Ind., Jan. 19.—When Miss Cora Guthrie of Alleghany, Pa., arrived with her trousseau to wed James S. Snyder of the Inland Steel company's plant at Indiana Harbor, the pitiful ending of a summer romance in the east was disclosed here. Without an inkling of the facts and after numerous social functions had been given in her honor and to celebrate her wedding by Alleghany school friends, Miss Guthrie found upon her arrival that her fiance lay dead in St. Margaret's hospital in Hammond and that two women, each claiming to be Snyder's wife, were fighting for his body.

Snyder was removed to the hospital last week very ill. He had not apprised Miss Guthrie of his illness. Sunday, while in delirium, he eluded his nurses and leaped from a second-story window. His death resulted. Snyder had no relatives here and few friends. His trunk was ransacked and from letters found notice of the projected wedding with Miss Guthrie was discovered. Those of Mrs. Harry Thomas of Lorain, O., and Mrs. J. S. Snyder of Moundsville, Pa., were among the addresses found, and the authorities notified them. Telegrams from both women were received, also one from an undertaker at Monongahela, Pa., claiming the body. It was learned that Snyder had a twelve-year-old son at Elizabeth, Pa.

Local police are unable to find whether Snyder had been divorced from either of his alleged wives.

Getting Into German.

In the use of legal terms the German lawyer's gain in a saving of number of words over our equivalent expressions seems to be lost in multiplication of syllables in the words used by him. For example, he says "Zurückbehaltungsrecht" for "right of lien" and "gesamtmögensverbindlichkeiten" for "liabilities of common property." What an awful word he must have as an equivalent for our "imprescriptibility."—Docket.

"How did you enjoy the vaudeville performance?"

"It was good. They had performing cats, a baseball player, a champion pugilist, a trained cockatoo, and, I give you my word, they even had an actor doing a turn."—Louisville Courier-Journal.

Happy, Happy, Use TIZ

A Marvel For Sore Feet. Acts Right Off.

Sore Feet? Never After Using TIZ—Good-bye sore feet, aching feet, swollen feet, smelly feet, tired feet.

Good-bye corns, callouses and bunions and raw spots.

You've never tried anything like TIZ before for your feet. It is different from anything ever before sold.

It acts at once and makes the feet feel remarkably fresh and sore-proof.

TIZ is not a powder. Powders and other foot remedies clog up the pores. TIZ draws out all poisonous exudations which bring on soreness of the feet, and is the only remedy that does.

TIZ cleans out every pore and glorifies the feet—your feet.

You'll never limp again or draw up your face in pain, and you'll forget about your corns, bunions and callouses. You'll feel like a new person.

If you don't find all this true after trying a box of TIZ, you can get your money right back.

TIZ is for sale at all druggists at 25 cents per box, or it will be sent you direct if you wish from Walter Luder Dodge & Co., Chicago, Ill.

The Important Problem

confronting anyone in need of a laxative is not a question of a single action only, but of permanently beneficial effects, which will follow proper efforts to live in a healthful way, with the assistance of Syrup of Figs and Elixir of Senna, whenever it is required, as it cleanses the system gently yet promptly, without irritation and will therefore always have the preference of all who wish the best of family laxatives.

The combination has the approval of physicians because it is known to be truly beneficial, and because it has given satisfaction to the millions of well-informed families who have used it for many years past.

To get its beneficial effects, always buy the genuine manufactured by the California Fig Syrup Co.-only.

THE AIRSHIP AS A NAVAL SCOUT

Eugene Ely Makes Another Fine Demonstration.

A CONVINCING PERFORMANCE

Flying From Selfridge Field, the Bold Scout of the Air Lanes Swooped Down Upon the Deck of the Battleship Pennsylvania Out in San Francisco Bay, Twelve Miles Away, and Then Made a Safe Return.

San Francisco, Jan. 19.—When he flew twelve miles from shore to the deck of the cruiser Pennsylvania, anchored in San Francisco bay, made a perfect landing on the warship, and after turning about his machine launched it in the air again and flew back to the starting point, Eugene B. Ely accomplished a feat of aviation. Ely, who is a native son and one of the Curtiss flyers, took the air from Selfridge Field, where the Thirtieth Infantry was encamped for the occasion. He got off without a hitch and sped the distance of twelve miles across the bay in sixteen minutes. The Pennsylvania was the center of a fleet of warships and the bay was alive with craft of all description. When Ely's machine was first sighted from the warships, the plane broke through the mist and swept up the bay like an enormous gull, never wavering or faltering for an instant.

The air was smoky and the aviator flew low, so that it was difficult to pick him up until he was a few miles away. A blast from the Pennsylvania's siren, which was taken up by a chorus of other whistles, gave the first warning of the aeroplane's appearance. At brief intervals the sirens shrieked. Then as the air craft soared down to the deck of the cruiser they all let go in a mighty toot.

Ely flew through the cruiser squadron very close to the water. He approached the Pennsylvania from her bows, swept past her for a few hundred yards and then circled back, mounting slowly and settling lightly on the big platform that covered the ship's after deck. Ely landed so lightly that his biplane was hardly shaken. Ely's return flight was without incident. When he alighted he received a warm reception from the army officers and troops of the Thirtieth Infantry encamped on the grounds. He said: "This was easy. I could do it every day."

On Nov. 3 last Ely made the first successful flight from ship to shore when he flew from the forward deck of the scout cruiser Birmingham, anchored in Hampton Roads off Old Point Comfort, across Chesapeake bay, landing on the shore opposite Fortress Monroe.

At Aviation Field the experiment was tried as to whether wireless messages could be sent from the ground to an aviator in the air while he was making investigations of the troops. Willard went up and heard distinctly a message sent to him by wireless.

For Doubting Thomases.

Washington, Jan. 19.—"The feat of Aviator Ely in landing in an aeroplane on the deck of the Pennsylvania at San Francisco must convince the 'doubting Thomases' of the value of aviation in naval warfare," said Captain W. I. Chambers, aviation expert of the navy.

TWENTY-FOUR TO DIE

Japanese Supreme Court Sentences Gang That Plotted Against Throne.

Tokio, Jan. 19.—Twenty-five men and one woman, charged with conspiracy against the throne and with plotting to assassinate the crown prince and high officials of the empire, were publicly sentenced by the supreme court. Twenty-four of the prisoners, including Denjiro Kotoku, who once lived in America, and his wife, were condemned to death. The other two were sent to prison, one for eleven years and the other for eight years.

THE WAY OF THE WILD

A Deer Is Slain and Devoured by a Ravenous Eagle.

Enfield, Mass., Jan. 19.—A large eagle, ravenous with hunger, attacked and killed a deer at Quabbin lake. A number of farmers witnessed the encounter, but did not interfere, as both deer and eagle are protected by rigid statutes, which made no provision for the regulation of the combat. When the game warden arrived the eagle was feasting on his adversary's carcass.

Caught Under Tank Car.

Richmond, Ind., Jan. 19.—As a result of spreading rails, a freight train on the Chesapeake & Ohio railroad was wrecked a few miles north of Richmond. The cars were piled up in great confusion, and Engineer Haynes, who attempted to jump, was caught beneath the tank car and crushed. He will die.

Sheneman Pleaded Guilty.

South Bend, Ind., Jan. 19.—Roy Sheneman, former deputy prosecutor, arrested for embezzlement and forgery, pleaded guilty to one charge and accepted a sentence of one to fourteen years in prison.

Modern Life Would Be Too Hard on the Nerves If It Were Not For Want Advertising

The pace of life has become tense.

Worries, disappointments, up-sets at home and office, losses, discouragements seem to multiply as daily life becomes more complex.

The property owner, who MUST have a steady income from rents or lose his property, is "racked" by the untimely defection of a tenant. Some classified advertising quickly retrieves his loss—and quiets his nerves!

The salary-earner unexpectedly loses his position—and his peace-of-mind. The strain would shortly "break" something in his nervous system, if, once more, want advertising did not find the better job—and restore him his mental equilibrium.

In every phase of the city's life, every day, the Want Ads play the part of the peace-maker. They SERVE you and me at some crisis in our lives—and keep the modern pace and tension from proving too fast and tight for US.

Truly, the Want Ads ARE FOR SERVICE!

Poland China Gentleman.

There's an old verse about feeding the pig in the parlor and of late the pig experts have said that a parlor of its own is the place for the hog. No more mud holes, no more filth, but a civilized mode of life with plenty of shade and clean water.

The other day a farmer was saying that he had constructed a cement floor to feed his hogs on, and that he was doing everything possible to keep them clean. He watched them closely to see that they were kept in excellent appearance. "For," said he, "they say that filth is the first step toward cholera."

In the light of what the pig experts have been saying, it is a wonder that the hog has not become extinct, for it has been the theory these many ages that the dirtier he could be the more he enjoyed life and the fatter he would get. He had a mud hole to wallow in and a dirty trough to eat from. But the students of hog psychology and physiology say that the hog did not love the mud he wallowed in, but did enjoy the coolness of it. These students say also that it was not the dirt in the trough that made the porker fat, but that he grew sleek and portly in spite of the filth.

They have given the Poland China gentleman the shade of catalpa trees, and he lies in the shade in a clean place and enjoys it as much as he used to enjoy the mud. They have given him clean food, and he becomes fatter now than he ever did. The porker is now so necessary to American civilization that he can well be treated as the gentleman he naturally is.

Too Busy During the Day

That is the excuse we often hear from people for not opening an account with us and depositing regularly.

Remember that we are open Saturday nights from 6 o'clock until 8 o'clock to give the working man or woman the same service that our "daytime" customers are receiving.

Building Association No. 10

Office at the Farmers Trust Co.

EDITORIALETTES.

Medical society has adopted a resolution to prevent insanity. By dying that yellow and cutting it on the bias, it might be possible to tease a joke out of that. You do it.

They serve, those who stand and wait, but that's no reason for you standing and waiting.

Certain residents of Perkins street are howling about the proclivities of the Graham school building stack for smoking. They may seek comfort in the fact that nothing else around there is allowed to smoke.

The price of eggs and butter has hit the toboggan, but the hen's fruit is hardly down to a scramble yet.

January sales are just beginning to get their second wind and blue jays can almost be heard in the distance.

If Senator Beveridge would try a little investigation on the election of senators in his own State, he might do as well as holding up the report of the Lorimer committee.

We see by the society page of a metropolitan daily that "white cloth trimmed in skunk fur is very popular" Now that is really something worth getting excited over.

And again, wouldn't that make you turn up an alley to keep from meeting her?

FROM THE SUBURBS.

True Restraint.

Enemies must be just enough to admit that we have attempted no pun with the name of the Mr. Robin who wrecked that bank in New York.—Houston Post.

Unusual Anyhow.

The initial attempt to put a frenzied financier in an asylum has failed but the fact that an effort was made is encouraging.—Pittsburg Dispatch.

Easier to Take Home.

In Paris and London the women in certain classes of society have formed the habit of carrying dolls in their arms when they go calling or shopping. They find it better, no doubt, than going around with wooden men at their sides.—Baltimore Sun.

Extenuating Circumstances.

A St. Louis butcher was robbed by a burglar. Maybe the burglar had at some time inadvertently patronized that particular butcher.—Los Angeles Express.

Not Even a Noise.

Champ Clark has bought 950 corn-cob pipes for his fellow Democrats in congress. Hard luck for Uncle Joe! Anybody who has ever been up against a corn-cob pipe will readily see that the old man's cigar won't have a chance on earth to make itself smelted in the house of representatives for some time to come.—Philadelphia Telegraph.

They're Rare.

An Indiana man is so magnetic that he can not get a watch that will run longer than two days in his pockets. A man named Taft has several good jobs at Washington waiting for fellows like him.—Louisville Courier Journal.

Labor Saving Device.

The announcement that there will be no white burley tobacco crop in 1911 will save us from the trouble of trying to remember how that variety differs from other kinds when we desire to write an able and clarifying editorial on the tobacco situation.—Ohio State Journal.

How Loud is He?

What chance will a new member of congress have when he is thrust among 432 other members who want to speak also?

Well, Didn't They?

Undoubtedly the successful candidates in Adams county pointed out as the returns came in that the people may be trusted to vote right on a moral issue.—Ohio State Journal.

A Horrible Past.

Dr. Cook admits that he once sold apples. Been robbing the public from the start.—St. Louis Times.

The Chilly Mitt.

Medicine Hat wants its name changed! Let it change its manner first and then we'll see what we can do.—Cleveland Plain Dealer.

Why Shouldn't They?

If Indiana legislature passes the bill to give half-fare to "strap hangers" strap hanging may become more popular than ever.—Boston Transcript.

Mysterious Eight?

Mr. Beveridge's attitude in the Lorimer matter seems to be based on the suspicion that one might stretch senatorial courtesy too far.—Louisville Courier Journal.

Indeed!

The Baltimore Sun says "Senator Beveridge evidently failed to poll the literary vote of Indiana." Those liter-ats are a jealous sort.—Memphis Commercial Appeal.

Worse Yet.

The Evansville (Ind.) man who is suing for a divorce because his wife bathed her pet dog in the dishpan is unreasonable. She might have compelled him to do it.—Ohio State Journal.

'Tis Strange.

Indiana mourns for a slogan and will not be comforted. Imagine a city in the State that grows all the authors not being able to dig up one teeny, weeny slogan!—Philadelphia Inquirer.

And His Meals.

An Indiana man wants a divorce from his wife because she bathes the dog in the dishpan. If he thinks anything of the dog we can't say that we blame him.—Philadelphia Inquirer.

TEVIS WILL PREACH.

The Rev. V. W. Tevis of this city, superintendent of the Connorsville district of the Methodist Episcopal church, will preach at the Grand avenue church in Connorsville, where a series of revival meetings are being held, Friday night. It is expected that the meetings will close at that time.

WHAT SPENDING $100.00 MEANS.

Have you ever stopped to consider seriously the earning power of money?

Do you realize that whenever you spend money foolishly you are not only losing this actual cash in hand, but also the interest that the money might earn for you as long as you live.

For example, suppose you have saved $100.00. You can put this money into the Bank or you can spend it.

Whether you spend it wisely or not you will lose more than $3.00 every year for life for that is what $100.00 would earn at 3 per cent interest in The Rush County National Bank.

If your expenditure of the $100.00 is a wise and necessary one, it is probably worth $3.00 a year even if you live for 50 years longer, but if you are planning to spend that $100.00 foolishly, our advice to you is don't, but just put it into this Bank and let the 3 per cent compound interest double or treble your capital.

A Wonderful Dirt-Starter

SUNNY MONDAY Laundry Soap is kind to the clothes because it contains a marvelous dirt-starting ingredient which drives out the dirt in an all but magical way—saves most of the rubbing and saves your clothes.

Sunny Monday is a white soap, made from high-grade materials—choice fats and vegetable oils. It contains no rosin. All yellow laundry soaps contain rosin, and the majority of them are made from cheap tallow and refuse grease. Sunny Monday's whiteness is proof of its purity.

Try Sunny Monday next wash day and you'll never use any other laundry soap.

A. G. Reeve, Who is in Roswell, N. M., Writes Here.

A. G. Reeve, who is in Roswell, N. M., for the benefit of Mrs. Reeve's health, has written here that he is well pleased with the country. He says it is nice and warm there, regular summer weather. The people have the doors and windows open all the time and the men go without their coats. Mr. Reeve reports that the Rushville colony is all doing fine and seem to be well pleased.

AMUSEMENTS

The Palace theater will show a high class comedy tonight in the American Pathe film, "The Animated Arm Chair." It is said to be overflowing in mirth and is one of the original pictures that the film house always produces. Miss Iva Brown will sing a new illustrated song.

The Vaudet management will offer a big double program tonight with two reels of pictures. The feature Imp picture, "Pressed Roses" with Miss Lawrence as the leading lady of the Imp stock company, is said to be a drama of much interest. "The Convict" is the title of the Thanhouse subject, which tells a story of such dimensions that it never lacks in intensity. A new illustrated song will be sung.

The Star Grand will have for its sole attraction tonight Ita and the complete company of fourteen people. Ita has been creating a sensation wherever he, she or it, whatever Ita may be, has appeared, notably in Richmond and New Castle, where the company has played recently. The regular program of pictures and the illustrated song will be dispensed with. The manager will give a special ladies' matinee tomorrow afternoon and the regular Matinee on Saturday afternoon. Ita will be here the remainder of the week.

Demonstration

The National Biscuit Company will have a demonstrator at the Lon H. Havens Grocery store next Saturday to demonstrate their crackers and cakes. Everyone invited. 268t1 Yesterday being the birthday of Mrs. Mary Moore of Rushville, her husband planned a complete surprise on her by inviting the Naomi Circle of this city, says the Connersville News. Leaving on the 1:30 car they were met by her daughter, Mrs. J. R. Gillespie, who had gone over in the morning. After greeting each one in her usual happy way they were all made to feel at home. After the regular order of business had been dispensed with, and an hour had been spent socially, they were all invited to the dining room, where an excellent luncheon was served, after which they bid their hostess adieu. She was presented with a gold brooch by Mrs. Charles MemMuir, on behalf of the society. The party consisted of Mrs. Ona Martindale, Mrs. C. O. Melhorn, Mrs. Ed Lewis, Mrs. F. D. White, Mrs. Fred Talbott, Mrs. Mollie Schroeder, Mrs. E. A. Enos, Mrs. Chas. MemMuir, Mrs. J. R. Gillespie, and Mrs. Clara Griffin.

JIMMY VALENTINE, WARDEN HANDLER AND ROSE LANE.

CHAPTER II.

WITH an agility surprisingly in contrast with his former decrepit attitude, the intended victim seized his chair and raised it threateningly over his head. The two officers halted. Doyle, regaining a calm demeanor, through the excellent self control which had become one of his valuable assets in his business, spoke easily.

"So you don't want a friend, old fellow?"

Avery lowered the chair. "No," he snorted. "Not any friends that are coppers. Thieves are bad enough."

The point of the reply did not escape Doyle.

"Well," he responded angrily, "you have got me for an enemy all the rest of your worthless life. You'd better come to see me once a month for fear I grab you by mistake—on suspicion."

"To — with you!" snarled Avery, turning away and facing the warden. "I've got the regular state allowance for released prisoners comin' to me, ain't I?"

"Yes," answered Handler, "and you take it and get out of here, you crook! Here, sign this" (he showed him a paper), "if you can write. If you can't, why, make your mark." The warden handed over a bill.

The departing man scanned the greenback deprecatingly.

"Five dollars," he cried, "and this suit of clothes that a country constable could see the Sing Sing tag on in the night! Pretty good for eight years and ten months' work, eh? And you guys are my friends! For God's sake, let me get out of here, where there are men who don't live on the mistakes of some one else." He wheeled toward the door and disappeared.

"There's one more we've got to keep track of," commented Doyle.

"He'll be at work in a week," said Handler laconically.

"Yes, and I'll nail him and give him back to you."

"I don't want him," the warden put in hastily. "I just might make it

AN EASY AND HARMLESS WAY TO DARKEN THE HAIR.

Who does not know of the value of sage and sulphur for keeping the hair dark, soft, glossy and in good condition? As a matter of fact, sulphur is a natural element of hair, and a deficiency of it in the hair is held by many scalp specialists to be connected with loss of color and vitality of the hair. Unquestionably, there is no better remedy for hair and scalp troubles, especially premature grayness, than sage and sulphur, if properly prepared. The Wyeth Chemical Company, 74 Cortlandt St., New York City, put up an ideal preparation of this kind, called Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur. It is sold by all leading druggists for 50c. and $1.00 a bottle, or is sent direct by the manufacturers upon receipt of price.

"A gang of women tryin' to release from prison convicts they believe are innocent," said the warden.

The detective smiled.

At Handler's order Smith summoned the callers, Doyle making his exit. "The lieutenant governor," pondered Handler. "I wonder if there's any leak about those contracts for supplies."

Mrs. Moore and Mrs. Webster of the society, middle aged women of pleasing appearance, came in, followed by Rose Lane, the lieutenant governor's niece, and that official himself. Miss Lane, a young girl of unmistakable charm and beauty, held close to her uncle's side.

"Mr. Handler," spoke Mrs. Webster. "We come today with a famous humanitarian. Lieutenant Governor Fay," she pronounced, inclining toward that official.

"Governor," said the warden, bowing. The lieutenant governor shook Handler's hand and presented his niece. The party seated themselves, facing the warden.

"We have come here today," said Mrs. Moore, "to again ask that men be not forced to make confessions while imprisoned here that may be used against them when they leave here. We understand that through the pressure that can be brought to bear on the inmates in these institutions they can be made willing to confess to crimes they never committed."

"What do you mean?" queried Handler.

"Oh, we understand that by depriving prisoners of their proper allowance of food and of small privileges they are allowed, and by bullying conduct on the part of the men in charge of them the inmates can be led to make false confessions involving themselves or others. This information is used against the men after they are released as well as against men who are at large whom the police desire to incriminate."

"No one is ever forced to confess anything here, madam," protested Handler.

"But I know—" "Pardon me, Mrs. Moore," interrupted the lieutenant governor, rising. "I do not think that in your zeal you realize what you are saying." He addressed the warden. "It seems, however, that these well meaning ladies have evidence that a certain man here did confess some offense to a—a—" "To a stool," commented Handler.

"Am I responsible for the detectives who have men working inside the prison for them?"

"By a stool you mean—" "A stool pigeon, a decoy. They win the confidence of prisoners and tell what they learn to the detectives."

Mrs. Moore here went on to state that in Sing Sing and in all prisons were confined many innocent men and that in any event released men should be encouraged to live honestly, should be given a chance. They ought not to be pursued and hounded into being spies by detectives anxious to make a record for securing convictions regardless of the truth of the testimony. One reason the woman advanced for her stand was that a man who became a spy or decoy must associate continually with men and women of questionable character, thus rendering it impossible to secure or much less remain in honest employment.

"Bosh!" exclaimed Handler as she ceased. "These folks we get don't want to live straight, won't live straight, can't live straight when they get on the outside. First, they're all lazy; second, most of them are insane."

"What would you call a man," continued the warden, "who does some—" straight, can't live straight when they get on the outside. First, they're all lazy; second, most of them are insane.

"What would you call a man," continued the warden, "who does some—" thing the law forbids, does it whenever the opportunity offers without a chance of gain? What do you call a man who does a thing for the love of it?"

LIEUTENANT GOVERNOR FAY WAS ANNOUNCED.

"An artist," answered Mrs. Webster.

"Artist! Then I've got a lot of them," laughed Handler sarcastically. "Well, to me they are insane."

To Rose Lane the adventure was extremely interesting. Finally succeeding in gaining her uncle's consent to her accompanying him on a visit to the great prison, she was now seeing a little section of the darker side of life which appealed strongly to her imaginative nature. Her cheeks flushed with the excitement of the occasion, this voyage into this famous tomb of living dead men.

As the warden finished she exclaimed, "I once had an experience with a burglar, and—"

"Did he take your jewels?" asked Mrs. Moore sympathetically.

"No. I was in the parlor car in daylight. I was the only person in the car, and this man walked up and accosted me. I reached for the bell for the porter. He struck my wrist. Then he sat on the arm of my chair. He wanted to talk to me, he said. I scarcely knew what to do when a younger man, evidently a gentleman, walked in from the smoking compartment and, taking the man by the arm, led him away."

"How do you know the man was a burglar?" asked the lieutenant governor.

"Listen. I had no more than got my breath when the man came back. He

"HE WAS TALL AND HAD BLOND HAIR," threw his arms about my shoulders and again sat on the chair arm. When I reached for the bell he struck my arm. I screamed. The gentleman who had taken him away before ran into the car, and they fought. I was petrified with fright. The gentleman was much the smaller, and it seemed he would surely be killed when suddenly by some trick he sent the man crashing through the Pullman window. I read in the paper the next day that a famous burglar was found with his skull fractured near the tracks."

A strange light came into Handler's eyes. Was it possible, he thought, that so strange a coincidence— "Did that occur in this state?" he asked quickly.

"Yes," between Buffalo and Rochester two years ago in June."

The warden compressed his lips firmly.

"Was the dead burglar's name Cotton?" he interrogated earnestly.

"Yes; that's what the papers said. Did you know him?"

"Had him here for five years once. Odd, but we heard he was killed trying to get on a moving train. And, by the way, his particular pal is now in this prison doing ten—safe breaking. His name is Valentine. The story you tell is a brand new one on us."

"And you never saw again the gentleman who rescued you?" queried Mrs. Moore of Miss Lane.

"Never." Into the young girl's face came an expression of mingled sweetness and regret. The woman's question seemed to revive in her the memories of a voice and face and a manner and a personality which somehow she had never been quite able to forget.

"We sat and talked for a few minutes," she finally went on. "He told me that there were reasons why he could not let me know who he was and that he could never see me again, though I wanted him to meet my family to receive their thanks for what he had done. He was very nervous, but he had amazing strength for one of his build, as his handling of that ruffian showed. When he shook hands with me I noticed that his hands were very white and smooth and sensitive."

The warden was now leaning over his desk, intent on the girl's words.

"I noticed that he had the habit of frequently pressing one hand nervously into the other, and—"

"He was tall, and he had blond hair," interjected the warden.

The girl gazed at Handler in open mouthed astonishment.

GOV. DIX SAYS IT ISN'T HIS FIGHT

Keeps Hands off New York Senatorial Contest.

Albany, N. Y., Jan. 19.—In joint session the legislature assembled to compare the vote of the two houses taken separately on the candidates for United States senator. On announcement that there was no choice the senate and the assembly voted again. There was no change in the senate vote. In the assembly Sheehan lost one vote, that of Lewis Stuyvesant Chanler, who voted for Shepard. Chanler stated that he believed himself to be relieved from his caucus obligations. Shepard lost two votes when Assemblyman Saunders changed to Parker, and Assemblyman Terry changed to Gerard. The vote of the joint session was: Total vote, 1971; necessary to choice, 99; Sheehan, 90; Shepard, 13; Parker, 7; Gerard, 3; Littleton and Herrick each 2; Depew, 80.

The struggle over the United States senatorship is the uppermost topic. Charles F. Murphy, Daniel F. Cohalan, John H. McCooey and their friends are overrun with visitors at their headquarters. The leaders said that Sheehan, by the action of the joint caucus, had become the candidate of the Democratic organization and the organization would stick to him through thick and thin.

Governor Dix has reiterated his determination not to interfere with the senatorial contest, although he said he thought it a serious situation. The governor has hopes that it will speedily be cleared up. There is talk of a possible compromise candidate.

KEEPING UP THE FLOOD OF BILLS

Indiana Legislature Planning a Busy Program.

POURED INTO DAILY HOPPER

The Legislators, Despite the Incident of Electing a United States Senator, Yesterday Found Time to Introduce Forty-Nine New Bills Which Their Authors Desire to Have Enacted Into Laws.

Indianapolis, Jan. 19.—The bill appropriating $103,000 to redeem state fair ground live stock pavilion bonds and to pay the interest on the bonds was passed under suspension of rule in the house yesterday, and twenty-seven new bills were introduced.
Twenty-two new bills were introduced in the senate and Senator Stotsenburg was sworn in as president pro tem of the senate. Among the bills introduced was one which would provide for free school books, another for public records of prescriptions for liquor presented at drug stores, another for creating a department of horticulture and forestry, and others for state-wide primary elections, and for remedying the law's delays.

Mr. Kern's Frank Talk.
In acknowledging the high honor which had come to him through his election to the position of United States senator from Indiana, Mr.
Kern's speech was brief and wholly without partisan color.

He thanked the general assembly for the honor conferred upon him and declared that "it is an especially great honor to be elected the successor of the present able and patriotic senator from Indiana," and he paid Beveridge a further compliment by saying that
"after twenty years of faithful service he will retire from that body with integrity unquestioned, with ability universally acknowledged and a reputation for eloquence and earnestness altogether unsurpassed."

The new senator referred to his Democracy, but said he was under no obligations save those which he owes the great body of the people of his state. He added: "I have no apprehension that I shall ever be called upon to make the choice, but if the time should ever come when I must choose between party and country, then party and party interest must be subordinated to the right and interests of the people. But in the event that in matters of material and vital importance to party and country I find myself at variance with my party in nation and state, I shall not hesitate to surrender the commission which, in accordance with the party's mandate, has this day so generously given me."

To Strengthen Accounting Law.
A bill to regulate the manner of collecting money found by the state board of accounts to be due to the state or to any municipality has been prepared, embodying ideas from the governor,
the attorney general and the chief of the state board of accounts, and is designed to strengthen the public accounting law.

The bill provides for a separate law concerning the reporting of examinations and for collection of the shortages, and proposes to change the present method of collecting shortages in the following points:

The attorney general shall have full charge of proceedings to collect only where the shortages are found in connection with state departments or state institutions, or when specifically ordered by the governor to assume such charge when the report concerns any municipality or corporation outside the state departments or institutions, the attorney general shall send the report to the prosecuting attorney of the circuit in which the municipality or corporation is situated, and it shall become the duty of the prosecuting attorney to institute proceedings within thirty days. In the event the bill becomes a law the prosecuting attorneys shall assume charge of the trial of cases already filed by the attorney general on reports of shortages, which, under the present law, would be prosecuted by the attorney general.

The bill is so drawn as to leave in the hands of the governor and the attorney general control, through the prosecuting attorneys, of the prosecutions at all times. The governor's order to the attorney general, the bill proposes, shall be sufficient excuse for any prosecuting attorney for acting in compliance with the governor's order.
The bill provides further that an informal complaint will be all that will be necessary in filing suit.

The bill further provides for a fee system by which the prosecutors shall be paid for the extra work caused by the provisions of the act, and also proposes to empower the prosecuting attorney, with the consent of the chief examiner of the state board, to make compromises or adjustments in any case, the prosecutor, in the event of such compromise or adjustments, is to receive one-half the percentage set out above.

A radical change is also proposed in the method of making public the reports of the examiners.
Ottawa, Decatur and Dixon are the latest Illinois cities to adopt the commission form of government.

MORE MONEY NEEDED SAYS MR. DICKINSON

The Maine Cannot Be Raised With Cash on Hand.

Washington, Jan. 19.—Secretary of War Dickinson has written to the chairmen of the senate and house committees on appropriations calling attention to the fact that the appropriation of $300,000, under which the work of raising the wreck of the battleship Maine from Havana harbor is being carried on, will be exhausted within six weeks. Mr. Dickinson suggested that the war department be authorized to continue the work under an indefinite appropriation authorized several years ago, and he submitted the draft of a bill to carry this into operation.
It will be impossible, he added, to make a definite estimate for completing the work, until the water has been pumped from the coffer dam now being built around the hull, so that it can be exposed and examined by naval constructors. Secretary Dickinson also pointed out that as the wreck will be ready for raising after the adjournment of congress, some action should be taken by congress indicating what final disposition should be made of the hull.

BEGINNING TO TELL

Mrs. Schenk Faints From Strain of Long Court Ordeal.

Wheeling, W. Va., Jan. 19.—A dramatic incident of the trial of Mrs.
Laura Farnsworth Schenk came during the latter part of the afternoon session yesterday, when the woman accused of administering arsenic to her millionaire husband suddenly lurched forward and dropped into a huddled mass. She was taken to her cell while a recess was ordered.

Physicians attended the woman and later she returned to the courtroom, shaking and trembling. The strain on her nerves is now beginning to tell,
and it is said she is often hysterical in her cell after the sessions of court.
Judge Lewis S. Jordan has issued an order barring all women from the courtroom.

ULSTER PEACEABLE

Not Arming Against Home Rule, as Reports Had It.

London, Jan. 19.—The reports that Ulster is arming against home rule, which story was recently given prominence in many Unionist newspapers, is denied by the Daily Mail, itself a Unionist organ, as the result of a special investigation. It says that no arms are being imported openly or surreptitiously into Ulster, nor are any arrangements for such importations discoverable.

All Quiet and Peaceful.
Chihuahua, Mexico, Jan. 19.—All the military chiefs commanding troops and all the jefes politicos through the heretofore troubled section of Chihuahua have made their reports to the governor, and they say that everything is quiet and peaceful. Returns were received from Ojinaga, Batopilas, Casas Grandes, Guerrero and other places of less significance.

Followed Wife to Grave.
Baltimore, Jan. 19.—Bishop William Paret of the Episcopal diocese of Maryland, is dead at his home in Baltimore, following a lingering illness.
Mrs. Paret, wife of the bishop, died last week.

Dropped Dead at Threshold.
Princeton, Ill., Jan. 19.—Just as he was greeting his wife on returning from a trip, Adolph Hassler, a wealthy farmer of Hollowayville, dropped dead.

A CORRUPT DEAL SAYS SEN. BORAH

Idaho Statesman Analyzes Evidence In Lorimer Case.

NOT THE RESULT OF ACCIDENT

In Speaking Against the Report of the Burrows Committee, Senator Borah Challenged the Statement That Corruption Had Not Entered Into Lorimer's Election and Gave His Own Views in Direct Fashion.

Washington, Jan. 19.—The Lorimer case held the attention of the senate yesterday. Senator Burrows of Michigan, chairman of the commission of privileges and elections, defended Mr.
Lorimer's right to his seat, and Senator Borah of Idaho attacked the senator's title to his seat and demanded that the seat be declared vacant.

Senator Borah made what is regarded as the strongest presentation of the case against Lorimer that the senate has yet heard. Analyzing the testimony taken by the committee, he declared the evidence shows conclusively that there was a corrupt deal behind the Lorimer election. In his conclusion, delivered with dramatic effect, Senator Borah said:

"Mr. President, this much must be admitted: That from the hour that Mr. Lorimer declared he was a candidate upon the morning of the 26th of May, a stream of corruption began to flow which has never ceased. It has not only entered into the legislature, it has gone into the courts; it has affected juries; it has broken down lawyers; it has left in its wake broken reputations, and its entire course gives evidence of combination of well planned and well digested and well prepared schemes, showing that it was not the result of accident, not the result of parties coming together through inadvertence or accident, but the drawing together by reason of some powerful organizing mind—concealing every step where it was possible to conceal and cover it successfully—till one unmitigated scoundrel following the same impulse that moved him when he moved for money undertook again to sell himself and revealed the fact which drew in Holts-law, Beckmeyer, Link, Luke and Wilson and the whole scheme."

LODGE RE-ELECTED

Massachusetts Senator Received Six Votes More Than a Majority.

Boston, Jan. 19.—Henry Cabot Lodge of Nahant was elected United States senator for the fourth time by the Massachusetts legislature sitting in joint convention. Of the 280 legislators, 279 voted when their names were called, and Mr. Lodge received 146, or six more than a majority.
Sherman L. Whipple, his Democratic opponent, received 121 votes. Congressman Butler Ames received seven votes; A. Lawrence Lowell president of Harvard, was voted for by two anti-Lodge men: John R. Thayer, Curtis Guild, jr., and Sylvester J. McBride each received a vote. Representative Kilpatrick of Lowell, an original Ames supporter, left him and voted for Lodge. The sensation of the convention was the shifting of two Democratic senators of Boston districts from the Whipple to the Lodge column, and they were the only Democratic votes
the Republican senator received.
Both these men were elected on platforms pledging all Democratic candidates to vote against Lodge. They both voted for Whipple Tuesday, and their overnight shift was the cause of much comment.

Will Close the Incident.

Danville, Ill., Jan. 19.—The legacy alleged to have been left Speaker Cannon by a woman who died in India some time ago is probably a hoax. A letter has just been received by E. X.
Leseure, the speaker's son-in-law, asking for a remittance of $40 to file the first papers in the case. This will be declined and the incident probably will end here.

Gresham's Sword Goes to Indiana.
Bloomington, Ind., Jan. 19.—The sword carried by Brigadier General Walter Q. Gresham in the civil war has been presented to Indiana university by the Gresham family living in Chicago. President William Lowe
Bryan has arranged for elaborate exercises when a public presentation will be held.

ELECT DIRECTORS FOR ENSUING YEAR

Four-Fifths of the Stockholders of Farmers' Trust Company Are Present For Meeting.

ONE MORE DIRECTOR ADDED

The Farmers' Trust Company elected directors for the ensuing year at a meeting of the stockholders this morning and the new concern was started on its career very auspiciously. Four-fifths of the total number of stockholders was present for the session this morning. The number of directors was increased from six to seven and the same ones who were elected December nineteenth, when the institution was founded, were selected this morning with the addition of the new member. They are: A. B. Irvin, Dr. D. H. Dean, R. C. Hargrove, W. E. Wallace, T. A. Craig, Lee Pyle and J. W. Looney, Jr. The officers are the same as they have been: A. B. Irvin, president; W. E. Wallace, vice-president, and Theodore Heeb, secretary. The capital stock of the company is $50,000 with a surplus of $2,500 to start with.

The president of the trust company states that Building and Loan Association No. 10 with which he is associated, is in a flourishing condition and is rapidly growing. He says that new shares are being sold rapidly.

Saturday, February 11.—Demonstrations in the use of formalin in treating diseases of oats, wheat, potatoes, the pruning of trees and the making and applying of spray mixtures.

In addition to the day sessions special programs are to be arranged for evening meetings. The program for the domestic science course, which has been arranged especially for the wives of farmers attending the short course, follows:

Monday, February 6—"Food and Food Principles," Miss Grace H. Woodward; "White Sauce and Vegetables," Miss Gertrude McCheyne, Tuesday—"Production of Clean Milk," P. H. Crane; "Eggs," Miss McCheyne; "Digestion of Foods," Miss McCheyne; cheese demonstrations by Miss Woodward; "How to House Poultry," Otis Crane. Wednesday—"Tree Fruits for Home Gardens," M. W. Richards; "Meats," Miss McCheyne; "Personal Hygiene," Miss Woodward; "Desserts," Miss McCheyne; "Farm Butter Making," P. H. Crane. Thursday—"Hatching and Raising of Chickens," Otis Crane; "Bread," Miss Woodward; "Cereals," Miss McCheyne; "Left Over Meats," Miss McCheyne; "Small Fruits and Vegetable Garden," M. W. Richards. Friday—"The Farm Separator," P. H. Crane; "Fancy Bread," Miss Woodward; "Maintenance of the House," Miss Woodward; "Baking Powder and Soda Mixtures," Miss McCheyne; "Feeding the Hen and Marketing Her Produce," Otis Crane.

A two days' course for teachers has also been arranged with the following program: Thursday, February 8, "Agriculture in the School," G. I. Christie; "Study of Seed Weeds," F. H. Hillman; "Demonstration of Method of Teaching Agriculture," G. I. Roberts; "Cow Judging," G. I. Christie, Friday, "Horticulture," M. W. Richards; demonstration of methods of teaching agriculture.

Out side of the short course held at Purdue university there are few farmers' institutes that offer as varied a program as that of the Richmond course. Prof. G. I. Christie and a corps of instructors will come from Purdue and will be in direct charge of the domestic science and teachers' programs as well as the farm course proper.

GOES TO LEXINGTON SALE

Falmouth Stockman Goes to the Blue Grass State For Auction.

J. B. M. Perry, the well known stockman of Falmouth, whose fame as a breeder of Duroc hogs reaches over many States, left yesterday for Lexington, Ky., where he will attend a big stock sale. Mr. Perry's herd of Durocs is a large one and he has stock for sale at all times. He conducted a big sale last October and has arranged for another big sale during next October.

SEEMS PARSONS HAS BEEN THERE

Letter Written to C. F. Parsons, is Delivered to Dr. C. H. Parsons and Opened by Him.

GLENWOOD MAN MAKES KICK

J. N. Parsons, the agent for a Cincinnati, Ohio, land company, who gave away free lots near a small Georgia town, here, and who, it is asserted, was here last Saturday night, to spend the evening, has evidently been working elsewhere in Rush county besides the county seat. This is evidenced by the fact that Dr. C. H. Parsons, received a letter, addressed to C. F. Parsons, but it was written in such a manner that the postal clerks thought it belonged to the local physician and it was sent to him. Dr. Parsons glanced at the address and supposed that the letter was for him before he opened it. He had not read many lines before he discovered that it had been written to another Parsons. The letter was written by a Glenwood man, who had also been given a lot in Georgia and who was willing to quit and be good. He stated in there that he wanted his money back and that he had decided that he had no use for such a lot. The "F" of the initials was written so that it looked very much like an "H" so that Dr. Parsons believed it to be his letter.

PAID WITH A KISS.

Many persons here who know half the details of an instance where a local girl paid a bill for merchandise by one kiss, are anxious to know the exact monetary, says a Huntington dispatch. The kiss was neither offered nor solicited. The girl simply leaned against the counter and the business man swayed forward irresistibly drawn by the magnetism of those alluring cherry lips. Then the girl inquired the amount of her bill and stated quickly the kiss was sufficient remittance.
